Ali Sina's response to Mr. Abu Saleh of Islam Australia Network Part 3

Mr. Abu Saleh says:

> Read the Quran and Authentic Hadith for yourself. But be carefull, because through the Quran Allah Guides and Misguides.

This is the repetition of the same fallacy that we discussed above. Muhammad portrayed Allah as a mischievous prankster. In fact he went as far as calling him "the finest makkaar". (trickster, deceiver, cheater). These are demonic qualities. How can a god that misguides people on purpose and then burns them in hell for eternity be worthy of praise? What would you think of a man who tricks his own children and then punishes him? Wouldn't you call the social workers to come and take away the children from this crazy man? Shouldn't such a man be locked up in jail?

The god of Christ is at least a sane god. He is always loving, always ready to forgive your sins and accept you as his own. It makes no different whether you are a sinner, a prostitute or a killer. If you accept him, he promises to forgive you, enter into your heart and fill it with love no mater how many times you have repented and retracted. Now if I want to believe in a god, which god should I chose? A god of love or a god of fear?

Fear is the child of ignorance and a tool of the psychopath. Love is the child of freedom, knowledge, wisdom and understanding. Love is the foundation of this universe. Allah can't be God because the belief in him is based on ignorance and fear. He does not explain anything but demands submission and threatens with punishment dose who doubt, want to know and ask questions. This behavior is satanic not divine.

Allah was one of the deities in Ka'ba, invented and worshiped by the Pagans. He had a wife and three daughters. He was no different than Zeus for the Greeks. Muhammad hijacked this god and used it to manipulate the foolhardy. He made of this god a fearsome monster so through him he could rule over people with fear. It's foolish to believe in Allah in this day and age. The choice of Allah was circumstantial. If Hobal was the main god of the Arabs Muhammad would have claimed to be the messenger of Hobal. Allah is just a pretext. Muhammad was as much devoted to Allah as David Koresh was to Jehovah.

In one occasion, to win the support of the Quraish Muhammad acknowledged the power of Lat, Manat and Uza, the daughters of Allah, only to realize this would weaken his claim and backtrack later, claiming those verses that he had pronounced recognizing the daughters of Allah, were satanic and that all the prophets have been fooled by Satan, so he should not be blamed.

Imagine the foolishness of those who believed in him and the foolishness of those who still do. Stupid is really a mild word.

Mr. Abu Saleh says:

> If you want to find "mistakes" in the Quran then you will find them and it is in this way that Allah misguides the disobedient people.

What a load of nonsense. I am offering $50,000 dollars to anyone who can find a mistake in my claims against Muhammad and no one has been able to do that. How can the word of God be so vague that anyone can find mistakes in it? This confession alone is enough as proof that the Quran is not from God.

This is like a government issuing laws so vague that anyone can interpret them in anyway he wishes. Would such laws be enforceable?

Muslims' brains are so shrunk that they can't see the absurdity of this claim and each and everyone of them rehashes this nonsense mindlessly.

The traffic signs must be clear. If they are not clear, they will cause accident. One should not be expected to have "pure heart" (read "simple minded") to be able to interpret the signs properly. The signs should not be open to interpretation. If they are not clear, they are useless. Imagine having traffic signs that anyone can interpret the way he wishes. That would be chaos. In fact it is better not to have them because if you have no signs, you will be more careful, knowing that your safety is in your hands. And yet the Quran claims to be the book of divine guidance for all times but Muslims say one can interpret it in anyway he wants and actually one can even be misled by it. Doesn't this show that Muslims who believe in this nonsense are stupid?

But since Allah is the maker of the Law and the judge and executioner he can do whatever he pleases. He is someone with the mentality of Saddam Hussein only with more authority.

All these show Muhammad's asininity. Because he was a narcissist and he wanted to be a despot, he invented a god that reflected his own narcissistic reveries. With this tool, he could do and say anything and claim, it is the word of Allah and silence any critic. How can intelligent people not see this obvious ploy?

Muhammad was a very stupid man. The fact that he had a bunch of idiots believing in him should not fool us into thinking that what he said had any merit. Khomeini managed to fool thirty million Iranians and yet when you read his book, you laugh at the stupidity of this man. Was Hitler a great philosopher and a visionary? He was a psychopath and despite that he mesmerized millions of very intelligent people. Now we are talking of Germans. These are not just any third world ignorant people. Megalomaniac psychopaths have a way to convince people with their big lies.

If you don't scrutinize everything, you can fall for any lie, especially the big lies. The big lies are, paradoxically, more believable than the smaller lies. That is because ordinary people can't say big lies. They fear being caught and put to shame. But psychopaths don't have such qualms. They actually are the first to believe in their own lies. The big lies are more believable because they are rare and people wonder how could anyone have the trepidation to say such a colossal lie. So it must be true.

Time has come that Muslims ask these basic questions. Was really Muhammad a prophet of God? Where is the proof? Is Allah God? Where is the proof? God gave us a brain. As Galileo said, if He did not want us to use it, why would He give it to us?
